Wedded at Driftwood.

The leading social event of the season at Driftwood was the marriage of Mr. Charles Dorwin Porter of Mifflin, and Miss Ruth Sherwin Richardson which was solemnized on Tuesday, Sept. 14th, at the Union church in the presence of a large company. The event was of special interest on account of the prominence of the contracting parties, Driftwood having been the home of the bride's family for many years and the groom having been located there for some time.

The church in which the ceremony took place was beautifully and elaborately decorated for the occasion. The altar being banked high with autumn flowers and foliage, goldenrod predominating.

Promptly at the hour designated Miss Rachael Brookbank, who rendered a beautiful overture while the company was being seated, played the popular and impressive wedding march Lohengrin, as the wedding party entered the edifice.

The groom was attended by Charles Gray, Esq., of Pittsburg, a son of Judge Gray, the eminent jurist of Delaware. The members of the bridal party were: Mrs. V. King Pifer of Williamsport, a sister of the bride, matron of honor; Miss Nina Grier Bryan of Emporium, maid of honor; Miss Helen Richardson, sister of the bride, Miss Elizabeth Porter of Fort Wayne, Ind., sister of the groom and Misses Edna Mitchell and Martha Gleason of Driftwood, bride's maids. The bride entered on the arm of her oldest brother, George B. Richardson, Esq., of Grove City, by whom she was given in marriage.

The ushers were Arthur Byron of Olean, N. Y., Miles and James Porter, brothers of the groom of Fort Wayne, Ind., and R. Laughton Richardson of Driftwood, brother of the bride.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white chiffon mull with handsome lace trimmings, a tulle veil completed the artistic costume. Her bouquet being a shower of brides roses. She wore a beautiful brooch, the gift of the groom.

The matron of honor wore her wedding gown of cream satin with drapery of old family lace and carried white asters. The maid of honor was attired in an handsome gown of point d'sprit over messaline satin. She also carried an arm spray of white asters. The four maids wore dainty gowns of white Paris muslin and carried lavendor asters.

The bride presented her attendants with brooches and the gift of the groom to the male members of the party was handsome tie pins.

The solemn and impressive words that joined the young couple for life, were pronounced by the Rev. J. M. Robertson, rector of the Emporium Episcopal church, the beautiful ring service of that denomination being used.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The happy couple received the congratulations of the wedding guests, the entire bridal party and the mother of the bride being in the receiving line. After these happy felicitations had been extended the company was seated and a dainty luncheon was served in the parlors, dining room and spacious porches of the house. The house decorations were very profuse, the floral adornments in the reception room being white clematis, autumn flowers and foliage constituted the decorations in the interior apartments and porches, the bride's table being ornamented with clematis and goldenrod, the color scheme throughout being yellow, white and lavendor.

An hour later the bride and groom left on the west bound train to enjoy a western trip. After November 1st they will be at home in Mifflin, Pa., where Mr. Porter holds a responsible position with the Pennsylvania railroad. None of the features incident to the departure of a newly wedded party were omitted by the large number of friends assembled at the station, the well wishes of all being extended to the couple, whose dual journey through life starts out under the most auspicious circumstances.

The bride is the daughter of the late Francis E. and Mrs. Richardson and is held in the highest esteem of a very large circle of friends and acquaintances. Her brightness and vivacity have made her deservedly popular and that happiness unlimited may be hers through life, is the sincere wish of the many whose friendship she has long enjoyed. Mr. Porter is the son of Dr. Miles Porter, a prominent surgeon of Fort Wayne, Ind., and is a young man of sterling qualities. He is a graduate of Purdue College and for several years has been connected with the Pennsylvania railroad in various capacities requiring mechanical and engineering ability of a high order.

The happy event of Tuesday was attended by guests and relatives from Forf Wayne, Ind., Olean and Buffalo, N. Y., Emporium, DuBois, Union City, Johnsonburg, Williamsport, Grove City and other places.

The gifts to the bride were very numerous. including many beautiful articles of silver, cut glass, linen, china and furniture.

Howard—Rothfuss.

Last Wednesday evening, Trinity Episcopal Church at Williamsport, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Marcia Howard, daughter of Mrs. Editha Howard became the wife of Mr. Carl Winfield Scott Rothfuss. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Bell, Rector of All Saints Memorial church, of Williamsport. The decorations at the church and home were beautiful. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on West Fourth street. About 350 invitations were issued. The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. M. A. Rockwell of this place. Miss Encie Howard, of this place, acted as one of the bride's maids.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" Repeating its Success.

The phenomenal success of the book-play, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," is repeating itself again this season when crowded houses greet its every appearance. This popularity is attributed to the preceeding fame of the book that extended from ocean to ocean, and that the play is in itself the most genuine piece of rural life ever given to lover of bucolic drama.

The simple pure charm of the book is distinctly preserved in the play. The characters are drawn so close to life that it requires an effort to be convinced that they are not real. They are just such types as are found in every New England village and portrayed by actors who are in perfect sympathy with their roles. In fact, it is a case of human nature appealing to human nature.

Another thing that people evidently appreciate is not having their pleasure of the artistic simpleness of the play marred by mawkish scenes and sloshy incidents. The amusing scenes—and those are what the play is made up of mainly—contain just wholesome, good nature, compelling laugh after laugh, and the sentimental parts consist of that kind of refined pathos that plays upon the heart strings with no discordant note.

The company representing this beautiful play carries with it all the equipments including four large sets of scenery, built especially for the production, all the lightning effects and all the properties. Theatre goers are looking forward to the treat in store for them when the play comes to the Emporium Opera House in the near future.

How Different.

Renovo was trimmed by Emporium on the former's grounds Saturday afternoon by the score of 5 to 2. It was an interesting and well played game throughout and attracted a fair sized crowd of spectators.—Ridgway Record.

The base ball game Saturday afternoon between Renovo and Emporium was largely attended but was very listless. The score was 5 to 2. Raymond Friel pitched the last few innings and held the visitors to no hits. —Renovo Cor. to Lock Haven Express.

How different the above notices sound. It will be seen that the article from Renovo failed to say who won the game. The result of which no doubt made it listless from a Renovo point of view.

The meeting convened promptly at 2 o'clock, at which a goodly number were present The president, Mrs. Schriner had charge of the devotional exercises, then the secretary called the roll and four new members were received. County organization was discussed and it is sincerely hoped that the county may be organized in the future, for this is one of the few counties which is not yet organized. A literary program was rendered which was enjoyed and appreciated by all present. A committee was appointed for entertainment at the next meeting, which will convene the third Saturday in October, at the home of the vice-president, Mrs F. P. Stree, East Allegheny Ave.

A Terrible Smell.

Editor Press:—

Having occasion to pass over the bridge west of town several times during the past week we noticed a terrible stench, which is caused from the water it being black and slimy. This state of affairs is a disgrace and people should not are compelled to put up with this. Any violation of the law will have to be done something in order to protect the health of families from an epidemic of some kind. During the dry season especially, when the stream is very low and the water seems almost stagnate and to have the hot sun beat down on it for days the smell is dreadful.

CITIZEN.

Automobile Burned.

Mark Pomeroy's automobile caught fire last Saturday evening at about 11:30 o'clock in Grimes District, near the Grimes Church, and was almost totally destroyed. Pomeroy and Frank Dunbar were in the car at the time. It is supposed that the blaze originated from a leak in the gasoline tank. The engine and some of the other parts may be saved, but the machine as a whole is a wreck. Pomeroy carried about $2000 insurance on the auto.—Port Allegany Argus.

Whist Party.

Miss Maude Thomas entertained several friends at her home on East Allegany Avenue, last Friday evening, in honor of her guests, the Misses Nell K. Oles, of Olean and Margaret Follmer, of Coudersport. The evening was pleasantly spent by the playing of whist, and the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Guy Felt and Mr. Albert Forbes.

Wealth in Weeds for Boys to Find.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Saturday.—This country is actually importing for medicine purposes plants that are growing wild all around us, but which no one seems to think it worth while to gather. This fact is pointed out by the Department of Agriculture in a bulletin called "Weeds Used as Medicine," which would be worth while for the boy who reads this to write for if he wants to make a little money out of the vacant ground all around him. The bulletin will explain how to prepare the weeds for the market and will give one idea of the price that the industrious boy can expect to obtain for the weeds that are marketable.

Belgium and other European countries ship to this part of the world every year about 50,000 pounds of burdock root. The root sells for from three to eight cents a pound and the leaves for from five to ten cents. This will probably be news to most of those intelligent workers who have been weeding out the burdock from thousands of acres and carefully consigning it to the flames, while the more thrifty Europeans have been selling it to us on consignments that come more than three thousand miles to a country that abounds in it.

Who has not wondered at the sight of Italians digging for dandelions. The country boy knows that dandelion greens are not bad for the table, but how few but the astute alien are wise to the fact that druggists derive part of their income from the sale of dandelion as a tonic and that from four to six cents a pound can be obtained from the root that flourishes everywhere ready for the picking.

Instead of gathering the dock root that goes to waste all around us the American nation pays for the importation of 125,000 pounds of this plant every year. The dried root sells at from two to eight cents a pound and is considered an excellent blood medicine. The waste lands are alive with [illegible] boy could make money by collecting and preparing it for [illegible] it from Here's [illegible] ds the long [illegible] upon him to [illegible] us as his com [illegible] world.

[illegible] is pokeweed, a skin and [illegible] dy, the dried roots of which [illegible] rom two to five cents a pound; [illegible] n, which is a nerve tonic and a [illegible] h medicine, and which sells for [illegible] prices but is not thought to be [illegible] ble by the boys of this country [illegible] man boys know better—they sell [illegible] r importation to America), lobelia [illegible] s which sell for fifteen cents a [illegible] nd, and catnip which can be exchanged for pocket money at the rate from two to eight cents a pound.

These are only a few of the many weeds that are salable, but which we allow to go to waste in this country, while we buy the identical thing from abroad. It will open the eyes as well as line the pockets of our boys to get the bulletin referred to and make money out of that obnoxious job of weeding.

Is Excellent Vocalist.

Miss Grace Lloyd, of Emporium, Pa., who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. A. Johnston, and family, at 1404 Green street, delighted the congregation of Ridge Avenue Methodist Episcopal church with a solo on Sunday evening. Miss Lloyd is a highly talented vocalist, being a student of the Institute of Musical Arts, of New York city, also a student of Oscar Saenger, of New York city, under whose training she has been for several years.—Harrisburg Telegraph, Tuesday, Sept. 14.

House Raided.

Sheriff Norris, last Saturday on information, raided a house at Howard Siding, in which he arrested four women. They were brought to Emporium and on Monday given a hearing. They were fined $35, which they paid, and were discharged. For some time past arrests have been looked for and the sheriff has done his duty in making the raid.

Railroad News.

Prizes amounting to $5,400 were awarded to-day to Pennsylvania Railroad track supervisors and their assistants who have excelled in their work during the past year. The prizes, five in number, were distributed at Harrisburg, Pa., at the close of the first day of the General Manager's Annual inspection, on which, the General Manager is accompanied by his entire staff of officers, including some 300 men in the operating department of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The purpose in offering these liberal premiums is to encourage those in charge of the tracks over which the bulk of the Company's passenger trains run, to keep their sections as free as possible from irregularities that cause jars and discomforts to the Company's patrons.

To insure that the prizes shall be awarded upon accurate data, a committee of maintenance of way officers goes over the line every few weeks during the year, in a car attached to one of the regular high-speed trains. Two glasses of water are placed on the sills of two rear windows and every spill of water is counted against the score of the section of track over which the train is passing. To make the record even more accurate, an instrument has been especially designed to register every vibration of the car, either vertically or horizontally. The smaller the amount of vibration, the better the track.

Sears Retires With $25,000,000.

Richard W. Sears, founder of the great mail order house of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has announced his retirement from active business. He has amassed a fortune in the past seventeen years, it is said, of $25,000,000.

He began his business career when a telegraph operator in the nortwest, by buying watches and selling them to railroad men on approval. After opening an office in Minneapolis his business became so successful that he gradually added other lines and made enough money to establish himself in the general mail order business in Chicago. The business has grown until it is said the annual sales reach $50,000,000. A few years ago it was incorporated for $40,000,000.

Mr. Sears has for some time been investing in downtown real estate in Chicago. His purchase during a year amounted to about $2,000,000.

The unfortunate thing to contemplate is the fact that all of this twenty-five millions is on the books of poor country merchants, who could have furnished the goods on which Mr. Sears made his profit at the same price had they been paid the spot cash for it.

Struck it Rich.

A. Pelky and Charles Sanders who for the past three years have been in the Innoko mining district, between the Kuskowim and Yukon Rivers have just returned to Seattle, bringing with them a large supply of the much desired yellow dust.

They had one nugget that was worth $505; another worth $300. The first made in this district was made three years ago, and Sanders and Pelky immediately went into the district to look up claims on Gains Creek.

Pelky and Sanders modestly refuse to state how much their share is, but it is known that it is large.—Seattle Times.

RUSSIAN ILLITERACY.

There hardly could be a stronger condemnation of autocracy than the record of illiteracy of the Russian empire. Seventy-five per cent. of the recruits for the army, in which service is compulsory, can neither read nor write. Newspapers are published, not for the masses, but for an educated minority. The principal paper in the capital of the empire has a circulation of only 33,000 and others with an international reputation have only about one-third that many subscribers. With these facts before us there is no room to wonder at the backwardness of the Russian empire and no one can fail to perceive why it has typified mere brute strength in the affairs of the world and was feared for that reason alone until the giant was laid prostrate by the intelligence of a smaller and physically weaker nation. Were czardom the benevolent institution that its beneficiaries and advocates would have the world believe the people of Russia would not be sunk in such depths of ignorance as is shown by unimpeachable records. If Russia is to have the place among nations to which its population and area entitle it vastly more money will have to be spent on schools.

And now come dispatches from Winnipeg announcing that the yield of wheat in the prairie provinces of Canada this year will reach 130,000,000 bushels. In the World Almanac for 1909 the whole wheat crop of Canada for 1907 is stated to have been 96,606,000 bushels. This caused some doubt to be expressed as to the authenticity of extracts from a United State's consul's reports as to the increase of wheat production in the northwest provinces which were published during the excitement attending the recent wheat corner. The increase of wheat production in the Canadian northwest has been almost sufficient to stagger belief. It will be a great blessing to the crowded cities of the earth whose cry goes up for bread.

Although the battleships Alabama, Maine, Kentucky and Kearsarge are comparatively new additions to the navy, they are all going out of commission for heavy repairs, which in the case of the Maine in particular will amount almost to reconstruction. In addition to work on her hull, the Maine will have to receive a new battery of boilers. The rapidity with which battleships become worn and obsolete is surprising to those who have been imagining that navies built of steel are good for many decades of service with little expense or repairs. The truth is that these big ships must be undergoing protective "tinkering" all the time, from the date of launching until that of final retirement.

The Russian ministry of commerce has prepared an elaborate plan providing for the general improvement of all the seaports of the empire at a cost of $110,896,237. The amounts which it is planned to expend at Baltic ports aggregate $14,011,862. This is a large amount of money, but Russia will get more in return for it than if she were to spend it all in the race for naval supremacy. Navies can be obtained fast enough when nations are prosperous; and the only way in which prosperity can be secured is by enterprise such as that indicated in the determination to give Russia seaports that will accommodate the commerce of the world.

The other day a Pennsylvania man bought a despised mongrel for one dollar, and his friends made great sport of him for the investment. The second night the dog was in the house it awakened the family and saved four persons from being burned to death, and the man has collected $1,200 insurance. Not so bad a cur.

The gay and festive mosquito is holding high carnival with his family and friends over the failure of his proposed extermination. And it is a gory carnival, in which the best blood of Baltimore has attested the fact of human sacrifices as a part of the celebration.

MR. TAFT DEFENDS PAYNE TARIFF BILL

SAYS IT IS BEST TARIFF MEASURE THE PEOPLE HAVE EVER KNOWN.

PRESIDENT EXPLAINS BILL

Duty Increased on Luxuries and Decreased on Necessities, According to a Statement Made by Chief Executive.

Winona, Minn.—In the most important utterance he has made since his occupancy of the White House, President W. H. Taft here, in a state which is the hot bed of the "insurgent" movement within the Republican party, defended the Payne tariff bill as the best tariff measure ever passed by a Republican congress and hence the best tariff bill the people have ever known. The president boldly asserted that the insurgents who voted against the bill had abandoned the Republican party.

"Was it the duty of the member of congress who believed that the bill did not accomplish everything that it ought to accomplish, to vote against it?" asked the president. "I am here to justify those who answer this question in the negative. I am not here to defend those who voted for the Payne bill, but to support them."

Mr. Taft waited until September 17 when, with a mass of facts and figures before him, with a new statement just prepared by Chairman Payne of the house committee on ways and means and with his own personal knowledge of all the intimate little details of the tariff fight in Washington still fresh in his mind, he sat down in a stateroom in his private car, the Mayflower, and dictated to two stenographers the speech he delivered at night and which represents a statement on the accomplishments and demerits of the Payne bill, from an administration point of view, more thorough in its simple appeal for an understanding by the people, than any document which has heretofore been issued from any source.

The statement contained only enough figures to make clear a point which the president has dwelt upon for some time in his confidential talks, that the measure of the new bill should be taken by the amount of reductions made on articles of general consumption compared to the increases on articles little used. The president, by means of a table prepared at his request by Mr. Payne, showed that the tariff had been increased on articles whose consumption in this country amounts yearly to $651,000,000, and that of this amount $379,000,000 is represented by such luxuries as silks, wines, liquors, perfumes and pomades, leaving a balance of $272,000,000 representing increases on articles not luxuries. Against this, the president set, with great emphasis in his delivery, the fact that the tariff has been reduced on articles, mostly necessities, whose consumption in this country amounts annually to $5,000,000,000.

STEAMER'S BOILERS EXPLODE

Boat Which Foundered Off the Coast of the Isle of Pines Cost the Lives of 29 Persons.

Mobile, Ala.—A graphic story of a marine disaster which cost the lives of 29 persons when the steamer Nicolas Castania, en route from Havana to Cienfuegos foundered off the coast of the Isle of Pines on the night of August 23 last, has just reached Mobile.

The crew numbered 27 officers and sailors, and there were two passengers. Eighteen human bodies have been recovered. The missing 11 are believed to have become the victims of sharks. All the bodies recovered were in a terribly decomposed state, and identification was impossible. A government commission, after an examination reported that the immediate cause of the wreck was the simultaneous explosion of the steamer's battery of boilers.

INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT LARGER

Improvement in Wholesale and Jobbing Demand—Perceptible Gains in Collections—Crop Movements

New York City.—Bradsteets says: A distinctly stronger under-tone is displayed in this week's telegraphed trade reports. Improvement in wholesale and jobbing demand, enlargement of industrial output and perceptible gains in collections are the central facts this week. Satisfactory progress, too, appears to be making in agricultural matters, with the exception of cotton.

The movement of crops and general merchandise is enlarging, and this week finds widely noted the reports that manufacturers of many lines are behind on deliveries, and that the idle car list is still decreasing largely.

If you are in business and you want to make more money you will read every word we have to say. Are you spending your money for advertising in haphazard fashion as if intended for charity, or do you advertise for direct results?

Did you ever stop to think how your advertising can be made a source of profit to you, and how its value can be measured in dollars and cents. If you have not, you are throwing money away.

Advertising is a modern business necessity, but must be conducted on business principles. If you are not satisfied with your advertising you should set aside a certain amount of money to be spent annually, and then carefully note the effect it has in increasing your volume of business; whether a 10, 20 or 30 per cent increase. If you watch this gain from year to you will become intensely interested in your advertising, and how you can make it enlarge your business.

If you try this method we believe you will not want to let a single issue of this paper go to press without something from your store.

We will be pleased to have you call on us, and we will take pleasure in explaining our annual contract for so many inches, and how it can be used in whatever amount that seems necessary to you.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT, backed up by 326 pounds of joyful smiles is to-day speeding westward on a 13,000-mile tour of the United States.

The trip is over two months in duration, starting September 15 from Boston and ending with the president's arrival in Washington for the winter, on November 21.

It is the longest journey through the length and breadth of the United States ever undertaken by an American executive while in office, and the trip is notable in presidential annals.

While ex-President Theodore Roosevelt is smashing precedents and setting new ones in Africa by riding on the cowcatchers of engines, etc., his successor is getting close to the soil in his own environment.

Riding with the engineer, getting his picture taken leaning from the cab of the engine almost in the act of swabbing the grease from the numbers on the side of the vehicle, stretching over the observation platform to shake hands with countrymen at towns where two-minute stops are billed, shouting a cheery "howdy" as the special train pulls out of the small town station, "Big Bill" Taft is racing from coast to coast and back again.

He was scheduled to touch the extreme northern boundary of the country and upon the occasion, October 16, when it was prearranged that he should shake hands with President Diaz of Mexico, and thereby cement relations between these national neighbors, he was slated to set foot on the south boundary.

He started from Beverly, Mass., which is on the east coast of the United States and his program called for a visit of several days at Seattle and other points on the Pacific coast which is the west boundary of the union. Thus it was predestined that the executive should set foot on the four extreme lines which enclose the domain which selected him as its head.

The personnel of the president's traveling party besides the president, consists of John Hays Hammond, president of the League of Republican Clubs; Capt. Archibald W. Butt, military aide; Wendell W. Mischler, assistant secretary; Dr. J. J. Richardson of Washington, D. C.; James Sloan, Jr., and L. C. Wheeler of the secret service and Maj. Arthur Brooks, the president's confidential messenger. Six newspaper men accompany the president throughout the entire trip. The party travels in two private cars attached for the greater part of the time to regular trains. Besides the regular executive affairs, President Taft is preparing his message to congress and a small part of each day is spent in either making memoranda or mental notes on points upon which he will elucidate in the regular communication due in December.

Secretary Carpenter, the man who handles much of the president's business of national importance, has packed away in his grips several hundred pounds of programs which are to be carried out at the various points at which the president is scheduled to stop and make a few remarks.

There is scarcely a state in the union through which the president does not pass. Every big city in the country with only a few exceptions, will be invaded in accordance with the presidential program.

Leaving Boston, after motoring into the city of highbrows, Mr. Taft and his two special trains departed westward for Chicago, arriving in the windy city the following day. Party chiefs there received him with the sort of glad hand that Chicago knows how to extend. Taft's palm turned upward in response to the cordial greeting, after which he was down on the bookings to "do" Madison, Portage and Milwaukee, Wis., in a single day on his way to Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

FIVE MINUTES FOR A RECEPTION

A DASH TO THE MEETING PLACE

Thence the program called for a southern trip to Des Moines, Iowa, and Omaha, Neb., with a long jump to Denver, Col., which city a little over a year ago wasn't big enough to hold all the Democrats who wanted William Jennings Bryan for the job Mr. Taft now has.

Thence to Wolhurst, Pueblo, Glenwood Springs and Montrose, Col. From there the president was routed to Salt Lake City, Utah, Pocatello, Idaho, Butte and Helena, Mont., Spokane, North Yakima and Seattle, Wash.

The line of travel from Spokane extends southward along the Pacific coast, the southern states being next to receive the president. At El Paso, Texas, one of the most notable events of the tour will occur when on the sixteenth day of October President Diaz of Mexico and President Taft of the United States, will shake hands in a mutual harmony carnival.

Along the northern line of travel "Oh, you Bill Taft!" became a slogan, and "Howdy Bill" was another favorite expression of the multitude during the first days of the tour. That great big 326 pound Taft smile, which is the only one of its kind in captivity, was the greeting which met the salutations from close to the soil.

Arriving at St. Louis from Texas at 7:27 a. m., Monday, October 25, President Taft will be entertained at breakfast at 8:30 o'clock by the commercial club at the St. Louis hotel. At 10 a. m. he will make an address in the Coliseum, which holds 15,000 people.

At 2 p. m. the president will be the guest of Business Men's League at luncheon, in the Jefferson hotel. He will not speak at this function, but will hurry to East St. Louis (Ill.), to attend the dedication of a government building there at 4 p. m.

The president will return to St. Louis in time to sail for New Orleans on the steamboat Mississippi at 5 p. m. Arriving at Cape Girardeau, Mo., at 6 a. m., October 26, the president will be routed out of bed to make an address from the upper deck of the steamboat to the people gathered on the wharf. Leaving Cape Girardeau at 7 a. m., there will be a five-hour run to Cairo, Ill., where at noon Mr. Taft will make a second address from the boat. Leaving Cairo at 1 o'clock the next stop is scheduled at Hickman, Ky., at 4 p. m., where the third address from the deck of the Mississippi will be made. Leaving Hickman at 5 p. m. an all-night run will bring the party to Memphis, Tenn., at 8 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, October 27.

At Memphis the president will leave the steamer and be entertained in the city for four hours, making an address while there. Helena, Ark., will be reached at 6 p. m. on the 27th, and an address from the boat is scheduled. On Thursday, October 28, the only stop is scheduled at Vicksburg, where the president's party arrives at 6 p. m.

Pennsylvania Happenings

The number of automobiles registered at the highway department up to a recent date is over 32,300, as compared with 25,000 during the whole of last year.

Sub-stations have been established by the state police department, the troopers who returned from McKees Rocks being sent out to points near Greensburg and Wyoming.

Awards for the building of state highways have been made at the highway department for one mile of road in Union township, Adams county, and two miles in Manheim township, Lancaster county.

The state live stock sanitary board has the Texas fever situation in Lancaster county is well in hand. Four of the cattle landed at Mt. Joy have died and the board's agents have located all the other infected cattle. The disease has not spread.

The governor has announced the appointment of Alonzo T. Searle, esq., of Honesdale, Wayne county, to be president judge of the Twenty-second judicial district of Pennsylvania, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge George S. Purdy.

A conference was held recently by Deputy Attorney General Cunningham and Assistant Deputy Hargest and Chief Factory Inspector Delaney regarding the injunction suit restraining Captain Delaney from interfering with the Roumfort Amusement Co. of Harrisburg and 93 other moving picture places. It is probable that the case will not be heard until the latter part of this month or early in October.

All of the forest fires that for the past month had been burning throughout the state are now extinguished, according to information received at the state forestry department. The bills from the fire wardens for service rendered during the recent outbreaks are coming in to the department fast. Prior to this year the bills were returned to the county commissioners, who were refunded the money later by the state.

The board of public grounds and buildings has instructed Superintendent Rambo to secure opinions from architects relative to the placing of the civil war flags in the rotunda. The plan of the board is to have glass cases made for the flags, but the board first wants to know whether the placing of the cases in the rotunda would in any way detract from the architectural beauty of the place. The flag room is needed for office space for the new legislative reference bureau.

That the state police authority is supreme to municipal police power is the opinion of Assistant Deputy Attorney General Hargest, who rendered an opinion to Dr. Louis A. Klein, deputy state veterinarian. Dr. Klein had asked whether the state live stock sanitary board can enforce the state quarantine law in Norristown, where there were several dogs suffering from rabies. On August 20 all dogs were quarantined in the borough of Norristown and ten days later it was learned that the local police were not enforcing the quarantine. A few days later an agent of the board was sent to the borough with orders to shoot all dogs running loose. The agent was taken before the burgess and informed that such action was against the borough ordinances. Mr. Hargest, in conclusion says: "You are advised that your agent has authority, notwithstanding any borough ordinance, to enforce the quarantine by shooting or otherwise destroying any dogs that may run at large.

What is generally considered in financial and commercial circles as the most convincing proof of the returning industrial and business activity was furnished recently in the announcements made by the Philadelphia and Reading railway and Pennsylvania railroad that there were no idle cars on either of these systems. The Reading officials announced that all the company's cars were in service, except those being repaired. The number, it was stated, awaiting repairs is at a minimum. The importance of this is shown when it is stated that 15 months ago the company had 10,554 idle cars in the yards and sidings of the system. East of Pittsburg, the Pennsylvania railroad official state there are practically no idle cars. On the lines west of Pittsburg there are 12,000 cars idle, but they are being put into service rapidly, and it is expected by the officers htat before another week there will not be a single idle car on the Pennsylvania system, whereas in 1908 the company had more than 46,000 idle cars.

Troop A, of the state police, has left McKees Rocks by an overland route to its barracks at Greensburg. Troop B went by train to Wyoming. Capt. Marsh is in command of Troop A and Capt. Robinson of Troop B.

The regular sub-stations for state police will be established at once by the state police department, now that the troopers have been called away from McKees Rocks. These stations will be scattered throughout the country near the barracks at Greensburg and at Wyoming.

HOW THEY LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

Ella—There aren't many faces like mine.

Stella—No; but I guess the supply will equal the demand.

CUTICURA CURED HIM.

Eczema Came on Legs and Ankles—Could Not Wear Shoes Because Of Bad Scaling and Itching.

"I have been successfully cured of dry eczema. I was inspecting the removal of noxious weeds from the edge of a river and was constantly in the dust from the weeds. At night I cleansed my limbs but felt a prickly sensation. I paid no attention to it for two years but I noticed a scum on my legs like fish scales. I did not attend to it until it came to be too itchy and sore and began getting two running sores. My ankles were all sore and scabby and I could not wear shoes. I had to use carpet and felt slippers for weeks. I got a cake of the Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment. In less than ten days I could put on my boots and in less than three weeks I was free from the confounded itching. Capt. George P. Bliss, Chief of Police, Morris, Manitoba, Mar. 20, 1907, and Sept. 24, 1908."

Mottoes of a Queen.

Her majesty, the queen of Portugal, pins her faith, it is said, to the following mottoes:

Keep out of doors all you can. Breathe outdoor air, live in it, revel in it. Don't shut yourself up. Build your houses so that the air supply is good. Throw away your portieres and bric-a-brac. Don't have useless trifles about you.

Have a favorite form of exercise and make the most of it. Ride on horseback if you can; cycle if you cannot get a horse; do anything to get out in the open air.

Don't overeat. Drink little and let that little be pure. Don't try to dress too much, yet dress as well as you are able. Wear everything you can to make yourself lovely.

Why We Are Stronger.

The old Greeks and Romans were great admirers of health and strength; their pictures and statuary made the muscles of the men stand out like cords.

As a matter of fact we have athletes and strong men—men fed on fine strength making food such as Quaker Oats—that would win in any contest with the old Roman or Greek champions.

It's a matter of food. The finest food for making strength of bone, muscle and nerve is fine oatmeal. Quaker Oats is the best because it is pure, no husks or stems or black specks. Farmers' wives are finding that by feeding the farm hands plentifully on Quaker Oats they get the best results in work and economy. If you are convenient to the store, buy the regular size packages; if not near the store buy the large size family package. 2

True Thrift.

"When visiting a certain town in the Midlands," says a medical man, "I was told of an extraordinary incident wherein the main figure, an economical housewife, exhibited, under trying circumstances, a trait quite characteristic of her. It seems that she had by mistake taken a quantity of poison—mercurial poison—the antidote for which, as all should know, comprises the whites of eggs. When this antidote was being administered, the order for which the unfortunate lady had overheard, she managed to murmur, although almost unconscious. "Mary, Mary! Save the yolks for the puddings!"—Tit-Bits.

GOVERNMENT HOMESTEADS

One and one-half million acres of farming and grazing land will be opened for settlement in the Cheyenne River and Standing Rock Indian Reservation October 4th to 23d. Fast daily through trains direct to Pierre and Aberdeen, S. D., the registration points, via the Chicago & North Western Ry. Write for descriptive pamphlets giving maps and full particulars to W. B. Kniskern, P. T. M., C. & N. W. Ry., Chicago, Ill.

Anything But That.

Little John is the youngest of a family of five boys, says the Delineator. One day his mother said to him: "O, John, isn't it too bad I haven't one little girl? I could curl her hair and make such pretty little dresses for her. Don't you wish you were a little girl?"

"Why, mother," he said, "I'd rather be most any other kind of animal you could mention than a girl."

His Helping Hand.

First Him—When that man fell overboard, why did you throw the cigar I gave you after him?

Second Him—I thought I heard the poor devil call for a rope!

Mrs. August Extrum, Sixth St., Emporium, Pa., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and I havedone so on many occasions. For a long time I was in a miserable condition, suffering from backache and sharp pains in my kidneys. I was restless at night, at times my feet became swollen and I was also subject to headaches and dizzy spells. I was unable to obtain relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from L. Taggart's drug store. When I had finished the contents of the first box there was a great improvement and after I had used three or four boxes the backache had completely disappeared. I was no longer tronbled with headaches or dizzy spells and my general health was much improved."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION FOR PIMPLES

To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches, and all forms of skin eruptions, is, according to a well known physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to a great deal of embarrassment on account of the unsightly appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple, harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearola one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces, mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain on the skin at least ten minutes, then wipe off the powder from the skin. Use a soft cloth or sponge in applying the mixture and in from ten days to two weeks your face will be smooth and clear as a marriage bell. Get the Pure Clearola, which is only put up in one-half ounce packages. Ask to see it.

Why Druggists Recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Colera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Frank C. Haurahan, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Na., says: "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purpose that pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customer so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference." For sale by Geo. C. Taggart.

Testifies After Four Years.

Carlisle Center, N. Y., G. R. Burhans, writes: "About four years ago I wrote you that I had been entirely cured of kidney tronble by taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and after four years I am again pleased to state that I have never had any return of these symptoms, and I am evidently cured to stay cured." Foley's Kidney Remedy will do the same for you. Sold by all druggists.

Best Treatmeni for a Burn.

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account ot its great value in the treatment of burns. It allays the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a severe one, heals the parts without leaving a scar, This salve is also unequaled for chapped hands. sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price 25 cents. For sale by Geo. C. Taggart.

Many people delude themselves of saying, "It will wear away," when they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake. Take Fol Kidney Remedy, and stop the drain on the vitality. It cures backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, and makes every trace of pain, weakness, and urinary trouble dissappear.

Flexible Power

The Offset Crank Shaft is what gives the Rambler engine its flexibility of power. The Rambler will run smoothly and quietly on high gear at 3 or 40 miles an hour. It allows to conform easily to the limitations of congested city traffic without constant gear changing.

Rambler
Car with the Offset Crank Shaft

Touring in the country a Rambler has an added charm, because it does its work steadily and quietly when running slowly under load and even in sand, where every ounce of power at slow engine speed is needed.

Let us demonstrate the silence and comfort of the Rambler, by calling at your home some morning and taking you to your place of business.

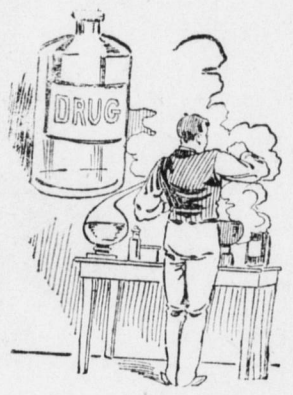
Disinfect



Some disinfectants and germicides might be classed as drugs but, you do not want to be drugged just now with a bug killer. However, now is the time to think of getting after the rose bugs and currant worms.

We have a full line of the "remedies" for that class of pests. Also a non-poisonous bed bug exterminator in small cans.

Stopped, Utterly Spent.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish.

"To be sure, the Japanese eat raw fish," admitted Winthrope.

"Yes; and you'd swallow your share of it if you had an invite to a swell dinner in Tokyo. Go on now, both of you. It's no joke, I tell you. You've got to eat, if you expect to get to water before night. Understand? See that headland south? Well, it's 100 to 1 we'll not find water short of there, and if we make it by night, we'll be doing better than I figure from the looks of these bogs. Now go to chewing. That's it! That's fine, Miss Jenny!"

Miss Leslie had forced herself to take a nibble of the raw fish. The flavor proved less repulsive than she had expected, and its moisture was so grateful to her parched mouth that she began to eat with eagerness. Not to be outdone, Winthrope promptly followed her lead. Blake had already cut himself a second slice. After he had cut more for his companions, he began to look them over with a closeness that proved embarrassing to Miss Leslie.

"Here's more of the good stuff," he said. "While you're chewing it, we'll sort of take stock. Everybody shell out everything. Here's my outfit—three shillings, half a dozen poker chips, and not another blessed— Say, what's become of that whisky flask? have you seen my flask?

"Here it is, right beside me, Mr. Blake," answered Miss Leslie. "But it is empty."

"Might be worse! What you got? —hairpins, watch? No pocket, I suppose?"

"None; and no watch. Even most of my pins are gone," replied the girl, and she raised her hand to her loosely coiled hair.

"Well, hold on to what you've got left. They may come in for fish-hooks. Let's see your shoes."

Miss Leslie slowly thrust a slender little foot just beyond the hem of her draggled white skirt.

"Good Lord!" groaned Blake, "slippers, and high heels at that! How do you expect to walk in those things?"

"I can at least try," replied the girl, with spirit.

"Hobble! Pass 'em over here, Winnie, my boy."

The slippers were handed over. Blake took one after the other and wrecked off the heel close to its base.

"Now you've at least got a pair of slippers," he said, tossing them back to their owner. "Tie them on tight with a couple of your ribbons, if you don't want to lose them in the mud. Now, Winthrope, what you got beside the knife?"

Winthrope held out a bunch of long flat keys and his cigarette case. He opened the latter and was about to throw away the two remaining cigarettes when Blake grasped his wrist.

"Hold on! even they may come in for something. We'll at least keep them until we need the case."

"And the keys?"

"Make arrow-heads, if we can get fire."

"I've heard of savages making fire by rubbing wood."

"Yes; and we're a long way from being savages—at present. All the show we have is to find some kind of quartz or flint, and the sooner we start to look the better. Got your slippers tied, Miss Jenny?"

"Yes; I think they'll do."

"Think! It's knowing the thing. Here, let me look."

The girl shrank back; but Blake stooped and examined first one slipper and then the other. The ribbons about both were tied in dainty bows. Blake jerked them loose and twisted them firmly over and under the slippers and about the girl's slender ankles before knotting the ends.

"There; that's more like. You're not going to a dance," he growled.

He thrust the empty whisky flask into his hip pocket and went back to pass a sling of reeds through the gills of the coryphene.

"All ready now," he called. "Let's get a move on. Keep my coat closer about your shoulders, Miss Jenny, and keep your shade up, if you don't want a sunstroke."

"Thank you, Blake, I'll see to that," said Winthrope. "I'm going to help Miss Leslie along. I've fastened our two shades together, so that they will answer for both of us."

"How about yourself, Mr. Blake?" inquired the girl. "Do you not find the sun fearfully hot?"

"Sure; but I wet my head in the sea, and here's another souse."

As he rose with dripping head from beside the pool he slung the coryphene on his back and started off without further words.

CHAPTER IV.

A Journey in Desolation.

MORNING was well advanced and the sun beat down upon the three with almost overpowering fierceness. The heat would have rendered their thirst unendurable had not Blake hacked off for them bit after bit of the moist coryphene flesh.

In a temperate climate ten miles over firm ground is a pleasant walk for one accustomed to the exercise. Quite a different matter is ten miles across mud-flats, covered with a tangle of reeds and rushes, and frequently dipping into salt marsh and ooze. Before they had gone a mile Miss Leslie would have lost her slippers had it not been for Blake's forethought in tying them so securely. Within a little more than three miles the girl's strength began to fail.

"Oh, Blake," called Winthrope, for the American was some yards in the lead, "pull up a bit on that knoll. We'll have to rest a while, I fancy. Miss Leslie is about pegged."

"What's that?" demanded Blake. "We're not half-way yet!"

Winthrope did not reply. It was all he could do to drag the girl up on the hummock. She sank, half-fainting, upon the dry reeds, and he sat down beside her to protect her with the shade. Blake stared at the miles of swampy flats which yet lay between them and the out-jutting headland of gray rock. The base of the cliff was screened by a belt of trees; but the nearest clump of green did not look more than a mile nearer than the headland.

"Hell!" muttered Blake, despondently. "Not even a short four miles. Mush and sassiety girls!"

Though he spoke to himself the others heard him. Miss Leslie flushed and would have risen had not Winthrope put his hand on her arm.

"Could you not go on and bring back a flask of water for Miss Leslie?" he asked. "By that time she will be rested."

"No; I don't fetch back any flasks of water. She's going when I go, or you can come on to suit yourselves."

"Mr. Blake, you—you won't go and leave me here! If you have a sister —if your mother—"

"She died of drink, and both my sisters did worse."

"My God, man! do you mean to say you'll abandon a helpless young girl?"

"Not a bit more helpless than were my sisters when you rich folks' guardians of law and order jugged me for the winter 'cause I didn't have a job and turned both girls into the street —onto the street, if you know what that means—one only 16 and the other 17. Talk about helpless young girls—Damnation!"

Miss Leslie cringed back as though she had been struck. Blake, however, seemed to have vented his anger in the curse, for when he again spoke there was nothing more than impatience in his tone. "Come on, let's get aboard. Winthrope couldn't walk you a half-mile, and long's it's the only way don't be all day about it. Here, Winthrope, look to the fish."

"But, my dear fellow, I don't quite take your idea, nor does Miss Leslie, I fancy," ventured Winthrope.

"Well, we've got to get to water or die; and as the lady can't walk she's going on my back. It's a case of have-to."

"No! I am not—I am not! I'd soone die!"

"I'm afraid you'll find that eas enough later on, Miss Jenny. Stan by, Winthrope, to help her up. D you hear? Take the knife and fish an lend a hand."

There was a note in Blake's voic that neither Winthrope nor Miss Le lie dared disregard. Though scarle with mortification, she permitted herself to be taken pick-a-back upo Blake's broad shoulders and meekl obeyed his command to clasp he hands about his throat. Yet even a that moment, such are the inconsis tencies of human nature, she could no but admire the ease with which h rose under her weight.

Now that he no longer had the slow pace of the girl to consider, he ad vanced at his natural gait, the quick tireless stride of an American railroad surveyor. His feet, trained to swamp travel in Louisiana and Panama, seemed to find the firmest ground as by instinct, and whether on the half-dried mud of the hummocks or in the ankle-deep water of the bogs, they felt their way without slip or stumble.

Winthrope, though burdened only with the half-eaten coryphene, toiled along behind, greatly troubled by the mud and the tangled reeds, and now and then flung down by some unlucky misstep. His modish suit, already much damaged by the salt water, was soon smeared afresh with a coating of greenish slime. His one consolation was that Blake, after jeering at his first tumble, paid no more attention to him. On the other hand, he was cut by the seeming indifference of Miss Leslie. Intent on his own misery, he failed to consider that the girl might be suffering far greater discomfort and humiliation.

More than three miles had been covered before Blake stopped on a hummock. Releasing Miss Leslie, he stretched out on the dry crest of the knoll and called for a slice of the fish. At his urging the others took a few mouthfuls, although their throats were so parched that even the moist flesh afforded scant relief. Fortunately for them all, Blake had been thoroughly trained to endure thirst. He rested less than ten minutes; then taking Miss Leslie up again like a rag doll, he swung away at a good pace.

The trees were less than half a mile distant when he halted for the second time. He would have gone to them without a pause, though his muscles were quivering with exhaustion, had not Miss Leslie chanced to look around and discover that Winthrope was no longer following them. For ast mile he had been lagging er and farther behind, and now d suddenly disappeared. At the dismayed exclamation, Blake red his hold and she found herself ling in a foot or more of mud and Blake's face. As he turned nd, he wiped it off with his shirt-n, that's all. I thought he had

But the sun is so dreadfully hot,
I have his shade."
And he's been tumbling into every er pool. No; it's not the sun. I've f a mind to let him lie—the paperged swell! It would no more than Surely, you would not do that, Mr.

In this mud?—bah! But I guess ound. Now, now; don't yowl, Miss nny. I'm going. But you can't ex-

As he splashed away on the return ail, Miss Leslie dabbed at her eyes check the starting tears.

irsty!"
In her despair she would have sunk liminess of the water repelled her.

he gazed longingly at the trees, in he fore of which stood a grove of tately palms. The half-mile seemed n insuperable distance, but the ride n Blake's back had rested her and irst goaded her forward.
Stumbling and slipping she waded n across the inundated ground, and ame out upon a half-baked mud-flat, where the walking was much easier.
But the sun was now almost directly overhead, and between her thirst and he heat she soon found herself falterng. She tottered on a few steps arther, and then stopped, utterly pent. As she sank upon the dried rushes she glanced around and was ainly conscious of a strange, doubleded figure following her path ross the marsh. All about her bene black.
The next she knew Blake was ashing her head and face with ackish water out of the whisky flask.
e raised her hand to shield her e, and sat up, sick and dizzy.
"That's it!" said Blake. He spoke a kindly tone, though his voice was rsh and broken with thirst. "You're right now. Pull yourself together d we'll get to the trees in a jiffy."

Fortunately the remaining distance the weight of the Englishman and sping with a thirst which his ex-ions rendered even greater than t of his companions. But through e trees and brush which stretched y inland in a wall of verdure he d caught glimpses of a broad stream

A last the nearest palm was only a ew paces distant. Blake clutched is Leslie's arm and dragged her ve was yet another 100 yards dis-nt. Blake waited only to regain his ath; then he staggered up and went

n. The others, unable to rise, gazed ter him in silent misery.
Son Blake found himself rushing rough the jungle along a broad trail itted with enormous footprints; but e was so near mad with thirst that e paid no heed to the spoor other an to curse the holes for the trouble ey gave him. Suddenly the trail rned to the left and sloped down a se, Blake ran down the slope and dropping upon his knees plunged his ead into the water.

Not Ashamed of Economy.

Discussing England and the English from an American point of view, a recent American writer in England observes: "Nobody, from the king of England down, is either ashamed or afraid to be economical. Here a man or a woman is thought to be a fool or a vulgarian who is not careful of expenditure, while in America our waiters have been clever enough to make it appear that economy is mean, and as a nation we suffer accordingly. We are fools to be fooled in this manner."

KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Houston, Texas.—"When I first began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had been sick for three years with female troubles, chronic dyspepsia, and a liver trouble. I had tried several doctor's medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"For three years I lived on medicines and thought I would never get well, when I read an advertisment of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was advised to try it.

"My husband got me one bottle of the Compound, and it did me so much good I continued its use. I am now a well woman and enjoy the best of health.

"I advise all women suffering from such troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. They won't regret it, for it will surely cure you."—Mrs. Bessie L. Hicks, 819 Cleveland St., Houston.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Hicks.

Sweethearts Select the Time Between Eight and Nine O'clock in the Evening.

The crusty man was hopping mad. "Can't get a telephone," he said. "Every booth in the place is occupied and has been occupied for the last half hour. I never heard so many long-winded conversations going on at one time."

"Between eight and nine o'clock in the evening," volunteered the operator, sweetly, "there are more overtime telephone conversations registered than in any other in the 24."

"What is the cause of it?" snapped the crusty man.

"Sweethearts," said the girl. "For various reasons He and She cannot meet every evening, so on the off nights they satisfy their longing by talking over the telephone. It takes a long time to say all the things they want to say. Under the circumstances other people ought to be patient."

"Sweethearts! Humph!" scoffed the crusty man, and he didn't look patient, not one bit.

Making Use of the Things at Hand.

Real genius displays itself in the cook who has few materials and utensils to use. Almost anybody with all the markets at command can prepare a good meal, but the person who is able to do this with little to do with is an artist of no mean value. At a little evening reception the punch bowl was planned to be decorated about its base with great clusters of purple grapes. At the last moment no grape leaves could be procured so we resorted to the roof garden and picked enough leaves of the castor bean on which to arrange the grapes. These leaves were even more beautiful than the grape leaves would have been. How many beautiful and usable things we have about us all the time if we just open our eyes. We find what we are looking for.

Did you ever want a bread board with none available? Try using a well-floured piece of manila paper. It serves every purpose. Two pieces of paper used to sift baking powder and flour are a great convenience as they are lifted and emptied so easily. Use a dish set in the top of your teakettle for a double boiler.

Save nasturtium seeds to pickle, and use as capers.

Household Hints.

Put a little paper funnel in the opening of your berry pie and the juice will boil up in it, and none be wasted.

Never throw away dry cheese; grate it, add cream, red pepper and salt, and serve it as a cream cheese. There are so many nice ways of using dry cheese, with macaroni, on crackers toasted, and in souffles.

For the First Course.

There is nothing that seems quite so nice to begin a luncheon with as fresh fruit served in an attractive manner. A section or two of orange with a few beautiful cherries on the stems and garnished with the leaves, makes a pretty service. A touch of green always adds beauty to a dish, and there are always leaves.

WHAT furniture can give such finish to a room as a tender woman's face." —George Eliot.

"The beauty of a lovely woman is like music." —Ibid.

German Salad.

Chop fine one small head of cabbage and one onion. Season with salt and cayenne. Cut into small cubes, one slice of salt pork. Fry until brown; then pour over the cabbage. Mix well and add a little hot vinegar.

Refrigerator Helps.

It is not advisable to pile the food in it promiscuously. The slice of breakfast ham is often carelessly left in juxtiposition with the dinner roast, which spoils the flavor of the latter. A dish of cold boiled onions is thoughtlessly set near the butter, which at once absorbs its distinctive odor without advantage to itself. Celery is laid near the cream pitcher, and turnips or boiled cabbage set by the cooling custard for supper. Through such carelessness and ignorance the loss is sometimes great. Milk, cream and butter should be kept as much as possible from all food, as they readily absorb any flavor at hand. Meat and poultry should not rest against each other, but be arranged so that the air can circulate about them. If meat and poultry are to hang, they should be suspended with the choicest part down, that they may settle there.

Household Hints.

Save all your paper cracker boxes with the waxed paper to wrap and pack the sandwiches when going on a picnic.

Don't keep house without a spatula, (a flexible broad-bladed knife), they are indispensable in scraping out dishes, in cake making, for spreading icings and handling an omelet.

Flavor thoroughly with extract of peach. Bake in two shallow tins. Frost with clear icing, sprinkle with pink pulverized sugar and cocoanut.

Sweet Corn Fritters.

Grate six ears of corn, add three eggs, a good pinch of salt and a tablespoonful of sugar, a cup and a half of milk, a teaspoonful of baking powder and beat thoroughly together. Drop by the tablespoonful into smoking hot fat. Serve with or without sugar syrup.

Coffee's Weight on Old Age.

When prominent men realize the injurious effects of coffee and the cha in health that Postum can bring, t are glad to lend their testimony the benefit of others.

A superintendent of public school North Carolina says:

"My mother since her early ch hood, was an inveterate coffee drin and had been troubled with he hea for a number of years, and co plained of that 'weak all over' feeli and sick stomach.

"Some time ago I was making an official visit to a distant part of the country and took dinner with one of the merchants of the place. I noticed a somewhat peculiar flavor of the coffee, and asked him concerning it. He replied that it was Postum.

"I was so pleased with it, that after the meal was over, I bought a package to carry home with me, and had wife prepare some for the next meal. The whole family liked it so well, that we discontinued coffee and used Postum entirely.

"I had really been at times very anxious concerning my mother's condition, but we noticed that after using Postum for a short time, she felt so much better than she did prior to its use, and had little trouble with her heart and no sick stomach; that the headaches were not so frequent, and her general condition much improved. This continued until she was as well and hearty as the rest of us.

"I know Postum has benefited myself and the other members of the family, but not in so marked a degree as in the case of my mother, as she was a victim of long standing."

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

Proceedings of the Pariahs.

The Poor Pariahs essayed to hold a moonlight pionic in bamboo jungle, Mon IV at II. One by one they came straggling in, to the appointed place. But when all arived, alas! there was moon and as the Pariahs can only cry for Luna Illumination, not command it, they remained in Stygian Darkness, Symbolical.

Shce last meeting we have had millions of inquiries from all parts of the word and a heligraphic message from Mars, asking who we are. This of course is very flattering. At present we are issuing an eighteen volume library explaining to the earth and to other inquiring planets that we are Pariahs.

No business of importance was transacted except to act upon the communication from Mohammed Ali, who asked to admitted to our society. The scribe has been instructed to reply as follows:

Mohammed Ali,

Freezethemstiffsky, Russia.

Dear Mr. Ali—We received your honorable communication and are vastly pleased you regard our state so highly. We feel much flattered that you at present would prefer to be a Pariah of Sterling Run, than occupy your present situation. We are sorry but the rules of caste forbids our contaminating so pure and exaulted member of noble society. We hope you will soon be accustomed to the cold hospitality of your present abode.

HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION

NEW YORK CITY.

Three hundred years ago, Henry Hudson, an Englishman in command of a Dutch expedition, with eighteen men, explored the Hudson River from Sandy Hook to Troy in his small craft, the "Half Moon."

One hundred and ninety-eight years later, Robert Fulton established, with his steamboat, the "Clermont," a regular water service between New York and the towns along the Hudson river to the North.

This year, New York City, with sister cities and towns along the Hudson, will celebrate these two achievements by a series of imposing observances, religious, historical, military, naval, musical and literary, extending from September 25 to October 9.

Replicas of the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" have been built and will play a large part of the celebration. They will be the center of attraction in the great naval pageant on Saturday, September 25. The United States Government will have fifty-two war ships anchored in the Hudson, and Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Argentine, Guatemala, Mexico, and Cuba will be represented by war vessels.

Two great parades of water craft will escort the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" in triumphal procession past the war leviathans, first in the morning and again in the evening, when all the vessels will be illuminated.

On September 28 there will be a grand historical pageant, and on September 30 a big military parade in New York City.

On October 1, the "Half Moon" and "Clermont" will proceed up the Hudson to Troy escorted by hundreds of river craft, including torpedo boats.

A magnificent carnival parade will be held in New York on Saturday evening, October, 2, which promises to eclipse all previous attempts.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, the direct line to New York, with its unsurpassed service of fast express trains, will sell excursion tickets to New York for this period at reduced rates of fare.

Full details concerning specific fares, dates of sale, return limits, and train service may be obtained of Ticket Agents.
